

Abstract

A slider having a magnetic read/write head and including, a base coat, a reader element having a transducer, a writer element, the writer element including at least one conductive coil, the coil being electrically insulated by a composition which has a 5 negative coefficient of thermal expansion, and an overcoat.

